NEW YORK TIMES

WASHINGTON — During a night of heavy drinking at an upscale London bar in May 2016, George Papadopoulos, a young foreign policy adviser to the Trump campaign, made a startling revelation to Australia's top diplomat in Britain: Russia had political dirt on Hillary Clinton.

About three weeks earlier, Papadopoulos had been told that Moscow had thousands of emails that would embarrass Clinton, apparently stolen in an effort to try to damage her cam-

Exactly how much Papadopoulos said that night at the Kensington Wine Rooms with Australian, Alexander Downer, is unclear. But two months later, when leaked Dem-

The hacking and the revelation that a member of the Trump campaign may have had inside information about it were driving factors that led the FBI

Safety rules include ban on pot consumption by motorists, passengers

Prohibitions on smoking or ingesting marijuana while driving, as well as carrying an "open container" of cannabis in a vehicle are among several highway safety standards incorporated into new California laws that will be enforced in

Heading into a holiday weekend that will have the California Highway Patrol out in force, the pot consumption by motorists, including passengers, is effective Monday.

The statute, adopted as SB 65, closed a loophole in the law legalizing adult use of marijuana, CHP Officer Jon Sloat said.

"It was simply overlooked when the law was written," he said, noting CHP officers could not, technically, cite a motorist for smoking cannabis behind the wheel. Officers could, however, stop the driver for a sobriety check and take action on that basis, he said.

Another law, SB 94, integrates separate regulations for medical and recreational marijuana, including a prohibition against driving with an "open container of cannabis or loose cannabis flower," according to the statute.

Sloat said that would include a packed pipe or any form of cannabis "open and ready to ingest."

"We don't want anyone to get behind the wheel while impaired by marijuana," Sloat said, adding that the combination of alcohol and marijuana "increases your impairment."
